Product Overview and Industry Facts

A MotorAide Vehicle Service Contract (VSC) is backed by an insurance company with funds set aside to cover any claims your clients may incur. Some other companies selling VSCs are backed by risk retention groups—liability insurance companies owned by its members. Risk retention groups may offer a lower cost to the consumer, but typically run a greater risk of being able to properly fund a claim/contract.

With MotorAide, you never have to worry about your client's coverage. With a contractual liability policy backing the service, your clients are assured to receive their payouts for all approved claims, letting them focus on the more important things in their lives.
